

The existence of a free media that is not monopolized & is made up of voices from all segments of the population is crucial to the workings of democracy.